PROBAT TROCKENBAU- AUSBAU

Sharp contrasts and dynamic shapes create the illusion of lightness, both outside and inside.

This new head office is located in the industrial area south of Ingolstadt at a strategically important crossing point opposite the football stadium. The building comprises a storage warehouse and an administrative wing. The management area has a large glazed façade and extends over two floors. The company specializes in drywall construction and the glass façade facing the adjacent crossroads permits views of the drywall construction inside, thus acting as a showcase for the company. The unusual shape of the volume and the combination of solid elements and glass give the huge volume a strikingly lightweight appearance.

The angular shape of the building is used as a striking design motif on the inside. The side of the stairs is a zigzagging white band that can also be seen on the outside of the building, while the balustrade of the upper floor gallery follows the building line, thus giving the interior the same jagged and angular impression as the outside.
